

Professor Peter Drahos
Regulatory Institutions Network (RegNet)
Research School of Social Sciences
Law Program
Canberra ACT 0200

HIV/AIDS, Patents and the Pharmaceutical Industry: Social Responsibility and Playing for Rules

Abstract:

This presentation examines the role of the large pharmaceutical industry in globalizing the patenting of pharmaceutical technology.

Peter Drahos is a Professor in the Law Program at the Research School of Social Sciences, Australian National University (ANU). He is Director of the Centre for Competition and Consumer Policy that is part of the Regulatory Institutions Network at the ANU and on the Board of Directors of the Foundation for Effective Markets & Governance.

His former positions include Herchel Smith Senior Research Fellow in Intellectual Property at the Centre for Commercial Law Studies, Queen Mary College, University of London and officer of the Australian Commonwealth Attorney-General's Department. He holds degrees in law, politics and philosophy and is admitted as a barrister and solicitor. He has published widely in law and social science journals on a variety of topics including contract, legal philosophy, telecommunications, intellectual property and international business regulation. He has written papers and reports on intellectual property for a number of organizations, including the European Commission, the UK Commission on Intellectual Property Rights, the Commonwealth Secretariat and Oxfam.

His publications include A Philosophy of Intellectual Property, Dartmouth (1996), Global Business Regulation, Cambridge University Press, 2000, (with John Braithwaite) and Information Feudalism: Who Controls the Knowledge Economy? (with John Braithwaite), Earthscan (2002), New Press (2003) and Oxford University Press, (2003).

In 2004 Global Business Regulation was awarded the Grawemeyer Award for Ideas Improving World Order. This award is one of the most prestigious in the social science field.