

Centre for Eye Research Australia 10th Anniversary

SEEING THE FUTURE

2006 is the 10th Anniversary for the Centre for Eye Research Australia.

To mark this occasion, the Centre will host a colloquium "Seeing the Future" in Melbourne Australia on 12th and 13th of October 2006.

The colloquium will recognize World Sight Day (12th October). It will explore the current status of significant eye diseases and innovative developments into their diagnosis, prevention and treatment. The conference will examine issues relating to economic impact, health policy and planning and exciting new technologies.

The Centre for Eye Research Australia is a designated World Health Organization collaborating Centre for the Prevention of Blindness.

There will be approximately 50 speakers from around the world over the two days.

Speakers include:

Hugh Taylor (Managing Director, Centre for Eye Research, Australia)

Nag Rao (IAPB, India)

Serge Resnikoff (WHO Geneva)

Fred Mendleson (Director, Howard Florey Institute, Australia)
