

Ms Carolyn McCabe
Department of Education & Training/Information Technology
East Melbourne, Victoria, Australia

Unplugging and Discovering Online Resources for Science Classes

An initiative of the Department of Education & Training, the Victorian Education Channel enables teachers and students to discover great online resources. With customised interfaces for teachers, primary students and secondary students, the Channel links to engaging and informative educational websites from Australia and overseas. Although the Teacher Page of the Channel has been designed with Victorian teachers in mind, it can be easily accessed and utilised by members of other educational communities, and in this session teachers will be shown how all Australian educators can use the Channel to find quick links to great science-related websites.

Participants will discover online resources related to lesson planning, local and global educational initiatives, collaborative projects and interactive challenges for students.

Block: 1C

Participant Limit: 30