Using assessment for learning (formative assessment) in the science

Assessment for learning seeks to use assessment in order to improve teaching and learning. On behalf of the states and territories of Australia, Curriculum Corporation has produced a professional development website (www.curriculum.edu.au/assessment) to promote assessment for learning strategies with teachers, both primary and secondary. This workshop will discuss the evolution of assessment for learning principles and provide a tour of the website for science teachers.
